

MAPPING A NEW GEOGRAPHY OF

WOMEN AND THE LAND

This exhibit is part of an arts program related to the 2015 literary conference “Mapping a New Geography of Hope: Women and the Land” presented by Point Reyes Books and Black Mountain Circle. As we move deeper into the 21st century what could the new geography of hope look like, and how might the radical and inclusionary values of feminism influence this new vision? Whether made by men or women, these exhibits show artwork that brings the ideas and perspectives of women into a new view of land and nature.
